Estimada familia:

El Departamento de Educación de Puerto Rico (DEPR) tiene como prioridad el garantizar que a sus hijos se les provea una educación pública, gratuita y apropiada. Para lograr este cometido, es imperativo tener presente que los seres humanos son diversos. Por eso, al educar es necesario reconocer las habilidades de cada individuo y buscar estrategias para minimizar todas aquellas barreras que pudieran limitar el acceso a su educación.

La otorgación de acomodos razonables es una de las estrategias que se utilizan para minimizar las necesidades que pudiera presentar un estudiante. Estos permiten adaptar la forma en que se presenta el material, la forma en que el estudiante responde, la adaptación del ambiente y lugar de estudio y el tiempo e itinerario que se utiliza. Su función principal es proveerle al estudiante acceso equitativo durante la enseñanza y la evaluación. Estos tienen la intención de reducir los efectos de la discapacidad, excepcionalidad o limitación del idioma y no, de reducir las expectativas para el aprendizaje. Durante el proceso de enseñanza y aprendizaje, se debe tener altas expectativas con nuestros niños y jóvenes.

Esta guía tiene el objetivo de apoyar a las familias en la selección y administración de los acomodos razonables durante el proceso de enseñanza y evaluación para los estudiantes que utilizarán este módulo didáctico. Los acomodos razonables le permiten a su hijo realizar la tarea y la evaluación, no de una forma más fácil, sino de una forma que sea posible de realizar, según las capacidades que muestre. El ofrecimiento de acomodos razonables está atado a la forma en que su hijo aprende. Los estudios en neurociencia establecen que los seres humanos aprenden de forma visual, de forma auditiva o de forma kinestésica o multisensorial, y aunque puede inclinarse por algún estilo, la mayoría utilizan los tres.

Por ello, a continuación, se presentan algunos ejemplos de acomodos razonables que podrían utilizar con su hijo mientras trabaja este módulo didáctico en el hogar. Es importante que como madre, padre o persona encargada en dirigir al estudiante en esta tarea los tenga presente y pueda documentar cuales se utilizaron. Si necesita más información, puede hacer referencia a la Guía para la provisión de acomodos razonables (2018) disponible por medio de la página www.de.pr.gov, en educación especial, bajo Manuales y Reglamentos.

2. Si tu hijo es un candidato o un participante de los servicios para estudiantes aprendices del español como segundo idioma e inmigrantes considera las siguientes sugerencias de enseñanza:

- Proporcionar un modelo o demostraciones de respuestas escritas u orales requeridas o esperadas.
- Comprobar si hay comprensión: use preguntas que requieran respuestas de una sola palabra, apoyos y gestos.
- Hablar con claridad, de manera pausada.
- Evitar el uso de las expresiones coloquiales, complejas.
- Asegurar que los estudiantes tengan todos los materiales necesarios.
- Leer las instrucciones oralmente.
- Corroborar que los estudiantes entiendan las instrucciones.
- Incorporar visuales: gestos, accesorios, gráficos organizadores y tablas.
- Sentarse cerca o junto al estudiante durante el tiempo de estudio.
- Seguir rutinas predecibles para crear un ambiente de seguridad y estabilidad para el aprendizaje.
- Permitir el aprendizaje por descubrimiento, pero estar disponible para ofrecer instrucciones directas sobre cómo completar una tarea.
- Utilizar los organizadores gráficos para la relación de ideas, conceptos y textos.
- Permitir el uso del diccionario regular o ilustrado.
- Crear un glosario pictórico.
- Simplificar las instrucciones.
- Ofrecer apoyo en la realización de trabajos de investigación.
- Ofrecer los pasos a seguir en el desarrollo de párrafos y ensayos.
- Proveer libros o lecturas con conceptos similares, pero en un nivel más sencillo.
- Proveer un lector.
• Proveer ejemplos.
• Agrupar problemas similares (todas las sumas juntas), utilizar dibujos, láminas, o gráficas para apoyar la explicación de los conceptos, reducir la complejidad lingüística del problema, leer y explicar el problema o teoría verbalmente o descomponerlo en pasos cortos.
• Proveer objetos para el aprendizaje (concretizar el vocabulario o conceptos).
• Reducir la longitud y permitir más tiempo para las tareas escritas.
• Leer al estudiante los textos que tiene dificultad para entender.
• Aceptar todos los intentos de producción de voz sin corrección de errores.
• Permitir que los estudiantes sustituyan dibujos, imágenes o diagramas, gráficos para una asignación escrita.
• Esbozar el material de lectura para el estudiante en su nivel de lectura, enfatizando las ideas principales.
• Reducir el número de problemas en una página.

Proporcionar objetos manipulativos para que el estudiante utilice cuando resuelva problemas de matemáticas.

3. Si tu hijo es un estudiante dotado, es decir, que obtuvo 130 o más de cociente intelectual (CI) en una prueba psicométrica, su educación debe ser dirigida y desafiante. Deberán considerar las siguientes recomendaciones:

• Conocer las capacidades especiales del estudiante, sus intereses y estilos de aprendizaje.
• Realizar actividades motivadoras que les exijan pensar a niveles más sofisticados y explorar nuevos temas.
• Adaptar el currículo y profundizar.
• Evitar las repeticiones y las rutinas.
• Realizar tareas de escritura para desarrollar empatía y sensibilidad.
• Utilizar la investigación como estrategia de enseñanza.
• Promover la producción de ideas creativas.
• Permitirle que aprenda a su ritmo.
• Proveer mayor tiempo para completar las tareas, cuando lo requiera.
• Cuidar la alineación entre su educación y sus necesidades académicas y socioemocionales.

- complete a biography report which will help them summarize the important information
- add details for a given main idea.

Standards and Expectations:

Reading

Language

11. LA.2 Demonstrate command of the conventions of English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

   a. Use punctuation rules correctly.
Introduction

Today we will begin learning about Types of Narratives. The first one we’re going to study is biographies. Biographies are the one genre that can open your eyes and hearts to people who have made a difference in the world. What is a biography? A biography is an account of a person’s life written by someone else.

Preview Activity

What sort of things would you expect to find out about a person’s life in a biography?
People have lots of different ideas about what makes someone important. Some people think that driving a great car or wearing expensive clothes is a sure sign of importance. Still others believe that the most important people are those who help others.

What do you think makes someone important?
Elon Musk

Early Life and Interests

On June 28, 1971, Elon Reeve Musk was born in Pretoria, South Africa. He was the son of Errol Musk, a pilot and electromechanical engineer and Maye Musk, a dietician from Canada. Young Elon spent part of his childhood in South Africa with his siblings, Kimbal and Tosca. When he was 10, he became interested in computers. By the age of 12, he created his first software called Blaster. He graduated from Pretoria Boys High School before moving to Canada when he was 17. Elon attended Queen’s University in Kingston, Ontario, before transferring to the University of Pennsylvania. In May 1997, he graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in physics. In addition, Musk also earned a Bachelor of Science degree in economics from Wharton School of Business. After a year, at the age of 24, he entered Stanford University for his Ph.D. in applied physics and materials science. He dropped out after two days.

Elon Musk’s Career and Ventures

In 1995, Elon and his brother Kimbal launched their first company named Zip2 Corporation. It was an online city guide, which soon catered The New York Times and Chicago Tribune. By 1999, they sold it to Compaq Computer Corporation for $307 million in cash and $34 million in stock options. Musk co-founded X.com in 1999. It was an online financial service company that would come to be known as PayPal. He owned 11% of its stock before eBay acquired it in 2002 for $1.5 billion in stock.

For his third company, Musk founded Space Exploration Technologies Corporation, also known as SpaceX. He established SpaceX in 2002 to build spacecraft for commercial space tourism.
By 2008, SpaceX was commissioned by NASA to transport cargo to the International Space Station. On May 22, 2012, Musk made history by being the first private company to send an unmanned capsule, the Falcon 9 rocket with 1,000 tons of supplies, to astronauts. Falcon 9 version 1.0 went to space five times from 2010 to March 2013. By September, version 1.1 flew 15 times until January 2016. In February 2015, SpaceX launched another Falcon 9 to observe the emissions from the sun that affect communication systems and power on Earth. In 2017, the BFR or Big Falcon Rocket design was presented by Musk. According to the plan, it could carry at least 100 people to Mars. By February 2018, Musk reached another milestone for SpaceX by launching the Falcon Heavy rocket complete with boosters. It’s designed to carry out immense missions. Falcon 9 version 1.0
Aside from SpaceX, Musk is also a co-founder and product designer of Tesla Motors. It was founded in 2003 to produce electric cars and battery products, including solar roof tiles. By 2008, Musk introduced the Roadster, a sports car charged with lithium-ion batteries. In partnership with Toyota, Tesla Motors released it to the public in 2010. In 2013, Motor Trend magazine awarded Tesla Motors’ Model S Car of the Year. By August 2016, Tesla Motors Inc. acquired an all-stock deal purchase of SolarCity Corp for $2.6 billion.

Additional Ideas for Innovation and Politics

In 2013, Musk introduced the concept of the Hyperloop. It is a transportation system that can carry city-to-city passengers in pods through low-pressure tubes. The project is estimated to cost $6 billion and take up to 10 years to build. In 2017, Musk announced his venture on Neuralink, which aimed to expand AI or artificial intelligence by creating a device to be implanted in the human brain. Upon the election of U.S. President Donald Trump, Musk joined Trump’s Manufacturing Jobs Initiative but he stepped down after the president’s announcement of withdrawing the U.S. from the Paris Climate Accord. As part of his philanthropic work, he founded the Musk Foundation dedicated to promoting renewable and clean energy sources and space exploration.

Lesson 2: Timelines

Introduction

Today we’re going to look at Timelines. Timelines are combined lists, consisting of a list of dates and a list of events. Significant events are placed on the timeline and there are "gaps" in time between the events. Timelines often provide the reader with considerable information in a highly compacted framework.

Timelines are useful because they display events over a period of time, letting the reader know what happened in chronological order so that connections between the events can be considered.

Reading Skill: Main Idea

The main idea is the central point or thought the author wants to communicate to readers. The main idea answers the question, “What does the author want me to know about the topic?” or “What is the author teaching me?” Often the author states the main idea in a single sentence.

In 1945, writer Marguerite Henry asked him to illustrate her first book, Justin Morgan Had a Horse. He illustrated fifteen of Henry’s horse books, including King of the Wind and Misty of Chincoteague. All three of these books were very popular with children and won awards for children’s literature. Dennis is also known for his paintings in Anna Sewell’s powerful story Black Beauty.

1. Wesley Dennis was an expert at painting horses.

2. Dennis could capture each horse’s personality.

3. Marguerite Henry asked him to illustrate her books.

Henry Ford

Early Life and Education

Ford was born on July 30, 1863, on his family’s farm in Wayne County, near Dearborn, Michigan.

When Ford was 13 years old, his father gifted him a pocket watch, which the young boy promptly took apart and reassembled. Friends and neighbors were impressed and requested that he fix their timepieces too.

Unsatisfied with farm work, Ford left home at the age of 16 to take an apprenticeship as a machinist at a shipbuilding firm in Detroit. In the years that followed, he would learn to skillfully operate and service steam engines and would also study bookkeeping. He attended Goldsmith, Bryant & Stratton Business College in Detroit.

Inventions and Early Career

In 1890, Ford was hired as an engineer for the Detroit Edison Company. In 1893, his natural talents earned him a promotion to chief engineer.

All the while, Ford developed his plans for a horseless carriage. In 1892, Ford built his first gasoline-powered buggy, which had a two-cylinder, four-horsepower engine. In 1896, he constructed his first model car, the Ford Quadricycle.

In the same year, he attended a meeting with Edison executives and found himself presenting his automobile plans to Thomas Edison. The lighting genius encouraged Ford to build a second, better model.

Henry Ford was an American industrialist who is famous for founding the Ford Motor Company and developing the mass production assembly line. He is responsible for bringing affordable cars to everyday American households who previously couldn’t afford to buy one.
By 1898, Ford was awarded with his first patent for a carburetor. In 1899, with money raised from investors following the development of a third model car, Ford left Edison Illuminating Company to pursue his car-making business full-time.

After a few trials building cars and companies, Ford established the Ford Motor Company in 1903. Ford introduced the Model T, the first car to be affordable for most Americans, in October 1908 and continued its construction until 1927. Also known as the “Tin Lizzie,” the car was known for its durability and versatility, quickly making it a huge commercial success.

For several years, Ford Motor Company posted 100 percent gains. Simple to drive and cheap to repair, especially following Ford’s invention of the assembly line, nearly half of all cars in America in 1918 were Model T’s.

By 1927, Ford and his son Edsel introduced another successful car, the Model A, and the Ford Motor Company grew into an industrial behemoth.

Additional Ideas for Innovation and Politics

In 1913, Ford launched the first moving assembly line for the mass production of the automobile. This new technique decreased the amount of time it took to build a car from 12 hours to two and a half, which in turn lowered the cost of the Model T from $850 in 1908 to $310 by 1926 for a much-improved model.

Philosophy and Philanthropy

Ford was an ardent pacifist and opposed World War I, even funding a peace ship to Europe. Later, in 1936, Ford and his family established the Ford Foundation to provide ongoing grants for research, education and development.

In business, Ford offered profit sharing to select employees who stayed with the company for six months and, most important, who conducted their lives in a respectable manner.

Ford died on April 7, 1947, of a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 83, near his Dearborn estate, Fair Lane.

“Failure is simply an opportunity to begin again; this time more intelligently.”

Not all automobile fuels are the same. Currently, automobiles can run on one of three types of fuel: gasoline, diesel, and biodiesel. To power the car, these fuels are burned inside of the engine. The key differences between these fuels stand on the way each one burns, thus its impact on the environment. Gasoline and diesel are both made from crude oil. On the contrary, biodiesel fuel is made from vegetables. These fuels may look similar, but the differences between them go beyond the monetary cost.

Write Your Memoirs
By Brenda B. Covert

1 We get our word memoir from the French word mémoire, which literally means "memory." It comes from the Latin word memoria. Isn't it interesting how similar these three words - in English, French, and Latin - are? A memoir is a story of a person's own experience. We most often use this word in its plural form -- memoirs. Those who pen memoirs are writing down their memories. It's the same as an autobiography. It's the story of a life.

2 Many celebrities publish their memoirs. It can be fun to read a book about the interesting things they have seen and done, the places they've visited, and the people they have known. Celebrities try to leave out the boring stuff and share only the most amusing, touching, or poignant memories. However, you don't have to be a movie star or sports hero to write your memoirs. You can begin today. It will be easier to write them now. You have fewer years to cover. The longer you live, the longer your memoirs would grow!

3 Someone once compared memoirs to home movies. If you include every dull moment, it will bore everyone but you! It's not supposed to sound like a textbook's list of facts. Unless your birth was unusual, you don't need to pour a lot of effort into describing how it happened. You don't have to include each year of your life if you don't remember something noteworthy occurring during some of those years. Your use of descriptive, colorful words will breathe life into your writing. The lively stories you choose to tell and the emotions you include will add interest as well.
Take some time to make a list of things you want to include in your memoirs. Pretend that you are a celebrity. People want to read about your life! Make it as interesting as you can without making things up. If you grow up to be famous, you'll already have a head start on your memoirs!

Memoir of a Kentucky Thoroughbred

Let me introduce myself. My name is Thunder. I am a Kentucky thoroughbred horse. Just like my Arabian ancestors, I am sleek and powerful and spirited. I was bred and born on the Castleton Farm on Ironworks Road just a few miles out of Lexington. Take the bridle out of your mouth, and let's chew the facts.

The Bluegrass Region of Kentucky is home to scores of big horse farms varying from one thousand to three thousand acres each. Thousands of visitors come from all over the world to the Bluegrass to visit each year.

These beautiful farms produce many farm products besides thoroughbred racing horses. Other fine horses such as trotters and saddle horses are raised, too.

A horse farm operates much like the Toyota Car Manufacturing Company, just down the road from Lexington in Georgetown. Among the many skilled workers are grocers, training jockeys, trainers, and special doctors called equestrian veterinarians.

Bluegrass is the important part of my diet. I eat other feeds of the very best quality which will help me grow into a strong healthy racer! Special "racehorse oats" are trucked in by great 18-wheeled trucks from the northwest. The oats are cleaned and loaded on these trucks which can carry 400 bushels each to a horse farm. One of my favorite dinners is a mixture of ground corn and whole chipped oats sprinkled with sliced carrots! YUM!!! Timothy hay is also a part of my regular diet. When I am not out in the pasture, my feed rack is filled with the timothy hay. What a great midnight snack to feed my night mares!

Other sites on the horse farm include grand mansions and thousands of miles of white or black board or stone fences. It took 29 years to build the stone fence at Keeneland Track.

As a thoroughbred horse, I dream about running in the Kentucky Derby which is held each year on the first Saturday in May. The "Run for the Roses" happens at the famous Churchill Downs in Louisville. Thousands of people will attend the Derby. From admissions and betting on the horses alone, several million dollars will be taken in during each meet! I have a few more years before I can compete. I can hear it now...
"And they're OFF!"

Keeneland Track, the Lexington Trots, the Lexington Junior League Horse Show, and the colorful Iroquois Hunt Club meet certainly do keep my social schedule full!

Living on a horse farm is truly a good life. Look for "Thunder" someday in the headlines! I want to be right up there with the great Man O’ War and other famous Derby winners. After all, racing is what I was born to do!

Unit: Making Connections

Objectives:

At the end of the unit the students will:

- Categorize details as either facts or opinions and be able to explain why they categorized each detail as they did.
- Evaluate information for fact, opinion, point of view, and bias.
- Make inferences from the text and cite textual evidence to support inferences.

Standards and Expectations:

Reading

11.R.1 Evaluate, analyze, research/synthesize, and document inferences and conclusions drawn from in-depth critical reading of appropriate texts and viewing of multimedia (when available). Examine ideas, increasingly complex phenomena, processes, and relationships within and across texts.

11.R.2.L Determine a theme or main idea of a literary text and analyze in detail its development, including how it emerges and is shaped and refined by specific details; provide a subjective summary of the text.

Language

11.4 LA. 4 Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on appropriately complex reading and content, choosing flexibly from a variety of strategies.
Lesson 4 Fact and Opinion,

Introduction:
Today we are going to be looking into fact and opinion.

A fact is a statement that can be tested by experimentation, observation, or research and shown to be true or untrue.

An opinion is a person’s belief, feeling, or judgment about something. It is a subjective or value judgment, and it cannot be proven.

An analytical information is the interpretation of facts. This is where some opinion might start to sneak into information.

A subjective information is when opinion makes its way into the information presented. It is not a BAD thing, as long as you recognize that the author of the information is presenting it subjectively.
Much of the information which you encounter on a daily basis is a mixture of facts AND opinions.

To determine if a statement is a fact or opinion, ask yourself if there is other factual information out there that could prove or disprove what you are reading. If such information exists, then the information is FACTUAL.

So, why is it important that you recognize the difference between fact and opinion? Well, other than not wanting to look like a doofus when you use someone's opinion as a fact in a college research paper, if you are able to distinguish between fact and opinion, you will be able to identify when something is merely an interpretation of a fact, and avoid using those opinions in research.

Important: A writer may use factual statements to support his or her opinions. Opinion statements may occur even in what seems to be strictly factual material. A reader should look for words that are clues to statements of opinion.

Build background information:

Write 4 words that also expressed opinions that are not listed in the previous chart

2. ___________________________________________________________
3. ___________________________________________________________
4. ___________________________________________________________
Skills Practice:

Distinguishing Between Fact and Opinion

Read the full piece. Which lines in it are facts? Which are opinions? How can you tell the difference?

An article published in The Times on Dec. 13 begins:

“On Saturday, a festive, besotted mob of 20- and 30-somethings, decked out in various measures of Santa Claus dress and undress, will descend on the bars of lower New York City and rain down Christmas cheer like spoiled eggnog.

This obnoxious event is SantaCon. For those living in peaceful oblivion, SantaCon is an annual tradition in which revelers dress up as Kriss Kringle (or, at least, put on a Santa hat) and participate en masse in an often literal bar crawl, cramming 12 nights of Christmas boozing into a single afternoon.”

Comprehension Check:

Where in the newspaper do you think this article was published?

A) a news report that belongs on the front page?
B) a review in the Arts section?
C) an Op-Ed piece in the Opinion section?
D) an Editorial Letter section?

Important: If you chose C, you are right. In “Bring Drunken Santas Under Control,” Jason O. Gilbert argues that Santa Con “contributes absolutely zero value — cultural, artistic, aesthetic, diversionary, culinary or political — to its host neighborhood.” To do this, he relates facts like the history and reach of the event to make his case, but much of the writing is a colorful, impassioned and often funny plea for New Yorkers to ban, or reign in, this tradition.
Practice Exercise 1: Identifying Fact and Opinion

Read each sentence. Decide whether each example is a fact or opinion. Write the word fact or opinion beside the appropriate sentence.

1. _______ Deserts are not as beautiful as forests.
2. _______ Independence’s Day is associated with the country of United States of America.
3. _______ Earth’s largest ocean is the Pacific Ocean.
4. _______ Barack Obama was the greatest president.
5. _______ San Juan is the capital of Puerto Rico.
6. _______ Leftover spaghetti is delicious.
7. _______ Honeybees are insects.
8. _______ Baseball is much more interesting than soccer.
9. _______ Blue is an attractive color.
10. ______ Cuba is on the Caribbean.
11. ______ My parents like classical music more than pop music.
12. ______ Lemons and limes look similar except for their color.
13. ______ Sunflowers are the prettiest flowers.
14. ______ We live in a concrete house.
15. ______ My aunt is the funniest person I know.
16. ______ I’m expecting a phone call in ten minutes.
17. ______ All dinosaurs are extinct.
18. ______ Horses are the most beautiful animals in the world.
19. ______ Guayama is one of the 78 municipalities of Puerto Rico.
20. ______ I lost my best friend’s book.

Practice Exercise 2: Write A Fact and an Opinion

Write one fact and one opinion for each topic.

example: bodies of water

Fact: More than two-thirds of Earth’s surface is covered by oceans.
Opinion: The Pacific Ocean is the best ocean to visit.

1. museum

Opinion: __________________________________________________________

3. camera
Fact: _____________________________________________________________
Opinion: __________________________________________________________

4. baseball
Fact: _____________________________________________________________
Opinion: __________________________________________________________

5. flower
Fact: _____________________________________________________________
Opinion: __________________________________________________________
Lesson 5 Making Inferences

Introduction

What is an inference?

Making inferences involves using personal experience or background knowledge / schema, along with the information from the text, to make assumptions about what is not written. Inferential thinking is often referred to as “reading between and beyond the lines.” Inferring is required when part of the knowledge to understand a passage is found in the text but some is not.

For example: If you see someone eating a new food and he or she makes a face, then you infer he does not like it. Or if someone slams a door, you can infer that she is upset about something.

Whenever we are reading in literature there are some essential questions that a reader must make:

- What words signal the reader to go beyond what's written to what is implied in the text?
- How do readers infer the meaning of unknown words?
- How do readers determine the main idea when it is inferred?
- How do readers use text clues to make inferences in an assessment passage?
- How can inferring and summarizing help readers identify main idea and relevant details?
- How do readers use prior knowledge to make and confirm predictions?
Now let us think thoroughly. Have I Used Inference Before in a Reading? An inference is not based solely on your opinion. It is based on EVIDENCE. In a story, everything you read in the text (what characters say or do, what events happen in the plot, etc.) can be used as the basis for making an inference.

Example:

!Diagram

The text says: The main character hates old people
I can infer that the main character has a mean personality

Good Readers:

- Infer to figure out what the author is saying
- Read between the lines
- Look for clues in pictures and/or words to help them figure out what the book, video, or picture is about
- Keep thinking if their inference is correct or needs to be revised

Now we are going to make some inferences:

Jacob the Great

Jacob hated finishing things almost as much as he loved starting them. As a result, he had gotten into a million hobbies and activities, but he never stuck with any of them long enough to get any good.

He begged his mother for months for a guitar so that he could play Black Eyed Peas songs to Angie, a girl he liked, but after he finally got one for Christmas, he found out that guitars don’t play themselves. He took a few lessons, but strumming the strings hurt his fingers and he didn’t like holding the pick, so now the five-hundred dollar guitar lives under his bed.

After reading an ad in the back of one of his comic books, Jacob decided that he wanted a Wonder-Sweeper 5000 metal detector, so that he could find buried pirate treasure. So he mowed lawns all summer and didn’t spend his money on ice-cream like his younger brother, Alex. He saved it all in a shoe box in his closet. Then he shoveled driveways all winter, and he didn’t spend his money on candy and chips like his classmates. By the time spring came he had saved $200, and he purchased the Wonder-Sweeper 5000 metal detector. He beeped it around the park for a while, but he soon found out that no pirates had ever set sail in his neighborhood, and if they had they didn’t leave any treasure. Even though he found a key ring, forty-seven cents, and all the bottle caps he could throw, he buried the metal detector in his closest.
Given Jacob’s history with hobbies, it was no surprise that Jacob’s father was reluctant to buy him a magician’s kit for his birthday. “Geez, Jacob… You sure you wouldn’t rather I got you more guitar lessons?” He suggested. Jacob was insistent. “Dad, you’ve got to get me the magician's kit. This time I’ll stick with it for real. I promise! Come on, Dad,” Jacob begged. Jacob’s father sighed and then replied, “Oh, I don’t know, Jacob. Things are awfully tight right now.” But Jacob’s father was reminded of his own youth long ago, when he quit football and started karate practice before hardly getting his equipment dirty. So when Jacob’s birthday came around, Jacob was both surprised and pleased to find the magician’s kit that he had desired so badly with a big bright bow on it.

Jacob opened up the box and unwrapped the many parts in the kit. As he did so, he imagined sawing his pet cat in half and putting it back together to the amazement of his friends and family. He took the many fake coins, trick cards, and rope pieces of varying length on the kitchen table and imagined pulling rabbits out of his hat and turning them into pigeons with a mysterious puff of smoke. As Jacob continued pulling plastic thumbs, foam balls, and giant playing cards out of the magic kit, a commercial on the TV caught his attention. “Hey kids! Have you ever wanted to go to space? Experience what it’s like to be an astronaut? Do you want to explore the universe? Well, now you can.” As the commercial continued playing, Jacob walked away from the magic kit on the kitchen table and stared at the TV screen longingly. “For only $195 you can go to space camp and live life like an astronaut for a whole weekend. Enroll now for a once in a life time experience.” Jacob’s cry rang throughout the house as he yelled, “MOM!” He now knew what his true purpose in life was.
